

5032.1001
L 014 P-US
H 5725 US

Abstract

A method for controlling image recording includes actuating, using a control unit, equipment for the image recording. Image data of the recorded images is processed using a computer unit. Control commands for the image recording are combined to form a script. The script is transmitted from the computer unit to the control unit.